Argument	The project lacks a theme, argument, or overarching narrative.	The project has a cohesive theme or subject but lacks a clear argument or point of view.	The project makes an argument or expresses a clear point of view in its narrative.
Sources	The project cites fewer than three sources or does not cite sources appropriately.	The project cites three sources (including at least one primary and one secondary) but does not integrate them into the argument or does so in a cursory way.	The project cites at least three sources (including at least one primary and one secondary) and uses them to support the argument and conclusions.
Technology	The technological component is absent or doesn't make sense in relation to the project's topic and/or sources.	The technological component is present and is suited to the project's topic and/or sources.	The technological component is present, well-suited to the project's topic and/or sources, and transforms the project in a way that a traditional essay could not achieve.
